

Eventys

Situation

Eventys has a 70-user network that is made up of about 100 devices including computers and ancillary products. A high percent of users move laptop devices in and out of their network environment. Because of their mobile computer usage, Eventys maintains individual virus protection on all laptops, and sought a second layer of security with increased depth and breadth of network level filtering.

Eventys was using Watchguard Firebox as their firewall, but the company had reached its limit on the number of users the product would tolerate and it provided no upgrade path. Eventys would be forced to literally throw away their hardware and purchase a new device to accommodate its users.

Enter AccessEnforcer™

By installing AccessEnforcer, Eventys resolved all user license issues for the foreseeable future. Each AccessEnforcer model is quite robust and gives small to medium size businesses generous leeway in scaling their business while maintaining their original device.

Non-IT staff can manage AccessEnforcer's administrative interface with limited training and resolve any blocking issues that may occur, such as mainstream webmail URLs and web-based subscription applications.

With AccessEnforcer in place, Eventys is comfortable with their network dynamics, knowing that laptops entering the secured network will not be able to infect other devices or shut down the network. Eventys has experienced smooth network operation since implementing AccessEnforcer. It was easily configured upon installation and does its job without the need for daily or even weekly attention.

Implementation Details

Calyptix went onsite to assist Eventys with its installation of AccessEnforcer. In less than 2 hours, AccessEnforcer was successfully integrated into the network and configured to address specific individual and organization-wide needs. In addition, the systems administrator was briefed and trained on the AccessEnforcer.

The Results

- Improved protection against threats from mobile laptops.
- Established network security scalable for company growth.
- Implemented state of the art intrusion detection & prevention system.
- Delivered plug & play protection with easy to manage GUI.

one box. one price. one solution.™

“ The most obvious value of AccessEnforcer for us, is its set and go capabilities. We plugged it in, set it up and it has been running effectively ever since. We're also delighted with the fact that we never again have to deal with user license issues as our staff grows. The device has helped us to get on with our business and eliminate the worry of how we're protecting it. ”

Matt Spangard, VP of Interactive, Eventys

Eventys provides one-stop, vertically integrated solutions to product development.